Pro, Con Forces Step Up Drives On Right-to-Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—With decision day fast approaching, forces working for and against right-to-work proposals are maneuvering for every possible vote in six states where the hot issue is on the ballot.

The outcome a week from Tuesday may very well affect the course of the battle in other states.

For that reason, rival forces—extending well beyond the borders of the six states—have spent millions of dollars to win voters to their respective sides on the question of banning compulsory labor union membership.

The immediate battleground lies in California, Ohio, Kansas, Colorado, Idaho and Washington. The fight is particularly rugged in California and Ohio, because of their size and importance.

In those six states, an estimated 10 million voters are expected to mark ballots carrying right-to-work propositions. This is about one out of every five persons likely to take part in the congressional elections across the nation.

In each state, the proposed law specifies that a worker cannot be denied a job or removed from one because of membership or non-membership in a union. Chiefly affected by such a ban would be the union shop or similar arrangements.

For an easy-to-understand ABC on the right-to-work issue, see James Marlow's column.

The opposing views on the issue may be summed up in remarks by two men calling signals in the bitter fight.

William T. Harrison, executive secretary of the National Right-to-Work Committee, says "Americans must have the right but not be compelled to join labor unions."

Jack Redding, director of the National Council for Industrial Peace, says "right-to-work, a misnomer, means right to wreck labor unions."

Most support for right-to-work laws comes from business groups. The opposition is led by organized labor. But both sides say they have backing from all elements of the nation.

Eighteen states have such laws. All except Indiana are in the South and West. Looking beyond the current phase of the fight, proponents are aiming to persuade the legislatures of several more states—Wisconsin, Maryland, New Mexico and Wyoming, among others—to adopt similar bans on compulsory union membership.

Ultimately, backers want to get at least three-fourths of the states lined up on their side in hopes the right-to-work principle can be written into the federal constitution.

How's the fight going in the current battleground states?

Redding predicts all six will defeat the fight-to-work propositions. Harrison counters: "I think the other side is going to find the result considerably different after the votes are counted."

The issue has criss-crossed party lines and in some places has pushed candidates into the background. Neither the Democratic Party nor the Republican Party has taken a formal position.

In California, Republican candidates for the Senate and governorship have taken clashing stands on the right-to-work question. Their Democratic opponents are ranged together against it.

In Ohio, GOP candidates for governor and senator are both on record for such a law while their Democratic foes are against it.

President Eisenhower is on neutral ground. He says it's a matter for each state to decide for itself. Neither the President nor Vice President Nixon would take sides on the right-to-work hot potato while they campaigned for GOP candidates in California.

However, Secretary of Labor Mitchell has said "I would vote against right-to-work legislation."

The strategists on both sides of the right-to-work fight have used all the paraphernalia and techniques usually associated with political campaigning. This has included television and radio appeals, newspaper ads, buttons, car stickers, banners and comic books.

Neither group has made public its finances.

Harrison, a 56-year-old railroad employee from Louisville, says his National Right-to-Work Committee issues annual memberships to individual persons and business firms. The fee for individuals ranges from $1 to $5 a year. Companies are charged from $25 to $100 and up. The committee chairman is S. D. Cadwallader of Cincinnati, a railroad conductor.

Redding, 49-year-old Chicago native and onetime assistant postmaster general, says his National Council for Industrial Peace draws its money from individuals, unions and some businessmen. Co-chairmen of this group are Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and former Democratic Sen. Herbert Lehman of New York.

Four Are Hurt In 2 Crashes

Injured Taken To Hospital

Four persons were injured, none seriously, in two auto accidents in this area yesterday.

Three passengers were injured when a car driven by Roger Lee Barnes, 17, Hallsville, crashed off the Circleville-Kingston Pike at 11:15 p. m.

Taken to Berger Hospital were Betty Jo Richendollar, 15, Route 2, Kingston; Linda A. Karshner, 15, Route 2, Kingston; and Ernest Bramel, 17, Chillicothe. Miss Richendollar and Miss Karshner were admitted and Miss Bramel was treated and released.

Miss Richendollar was treated for lacerations and possible head and back injuries. Miss Karshner suffered contusions and abrasions and possible back injuries. Bramel received a fractured left shoulder and foot injuries.

DEPUTY Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said Barnes' car, headed south, crashed off the right side of the highway into a ditch and careened back across the road into the other ditch. The auto was demolished, he added.

The other accident came at 9:30 p. m. when a car driven by Geraldine Jackson, 32, Route 3, Circleville, crashed off the Swackhammer Road about three miles north of here.

Mrs. Jackson was taken to Berger Hospital for a laceration of the right knee and possible chest injuries.

Mrs. Jackson told Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey that her east-bound car went out of control when the accelerator apparently stuck. The auto was heavily damaged, the deputy said.

O'Neill Plans Reply To DiSalle Accusation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill says he will expose false charges against him on a statewide telecast 8:00-8:30 p. m., tonight.

Aides of the governor said the telecast will deal with claims of Michael V. DiSalle, Democratic nominee, that O'Neill accepted 1956 campaign help from William Presser, head of Ohio Teamsters.

The governor previously has denied he accepted help from Presser, but he is expected to elaborate in the telecast.

Ike Returning To Political Wars Tonight

Pennsy, West Virginia Group To Hear Chief Plugging for GOP

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower returns to the campaign wars today to fire new salvos at the Democrats in West Virginia and Pennsylvania speeches.

White House aides predicted the President's stretch drive for election of a Republican Congress Nov. 4 will be marked by more of the bang-'em-hard technique that blossomed on the cross-country tour he concluded last Thursday.

Eisenhower arranged a late afternoon departure by plane for Charleston, W. Va., and a talk at the Kanawha County Airport.

Then he will fly on to Pittsburgh for a major political address tonight at the Syria Mosque auditorium. That speech will be carried over an 18-state television network into several areas where the Republicans are particularly hard-pressed.

Immediately after the Pittsburgh speech, the President will travel to New York for an overnight stay and some politicking there Tuesday on behalf of the congressional and state GOP ticket.

In West Virginia and his adopted state of Pennsylvania, indications are Eisenhower will cut loose again at Democrats whom he described last week as radical and left wing—and at an opposition party he said is hopelessly split right down the middle.

After a low key start on his coast-to-coast tour, Eisenhower started slugging hard in California and continued it in Chicago.

In West Virginia, the first stop on Eisenhower's latest political trek, the Democrats are given a good chance of picking up two U. S. Senate seats. They are held currently by Republican Sens. Chapman Revercomb and John D. Hoblitzell.

Revercomb is bidding for a full six-year term against Rep. Robert C. Byrd. Hoblitzell, running for the two remaining years of the term of the late Democratic Sen. Matthew Neely, is pitted against former Rep. Jennings Randolph.

West Virginia's House delegation now is four Democrats to two Republicans, and the division may stay that way.

In Pennsylvania, where Eisenhower will cast his vote at Gettysburg a week from Tuesday, there also is cause for Republican worry.

Current signs point to victory for the Democratic candidate for governor, 69-year-old Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh. His GOP opponent is Arthur T. McGonigle, 62, a retired pretzel manufacturer from Reading.

The U. S. Senate race is closer with Democratic Gov. George Leader generally considered a bit ahead of GOP Rep. Hugh Scott. Here again it is a Republican seat at stake—that being vacated by Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.), who did not seek re-election.

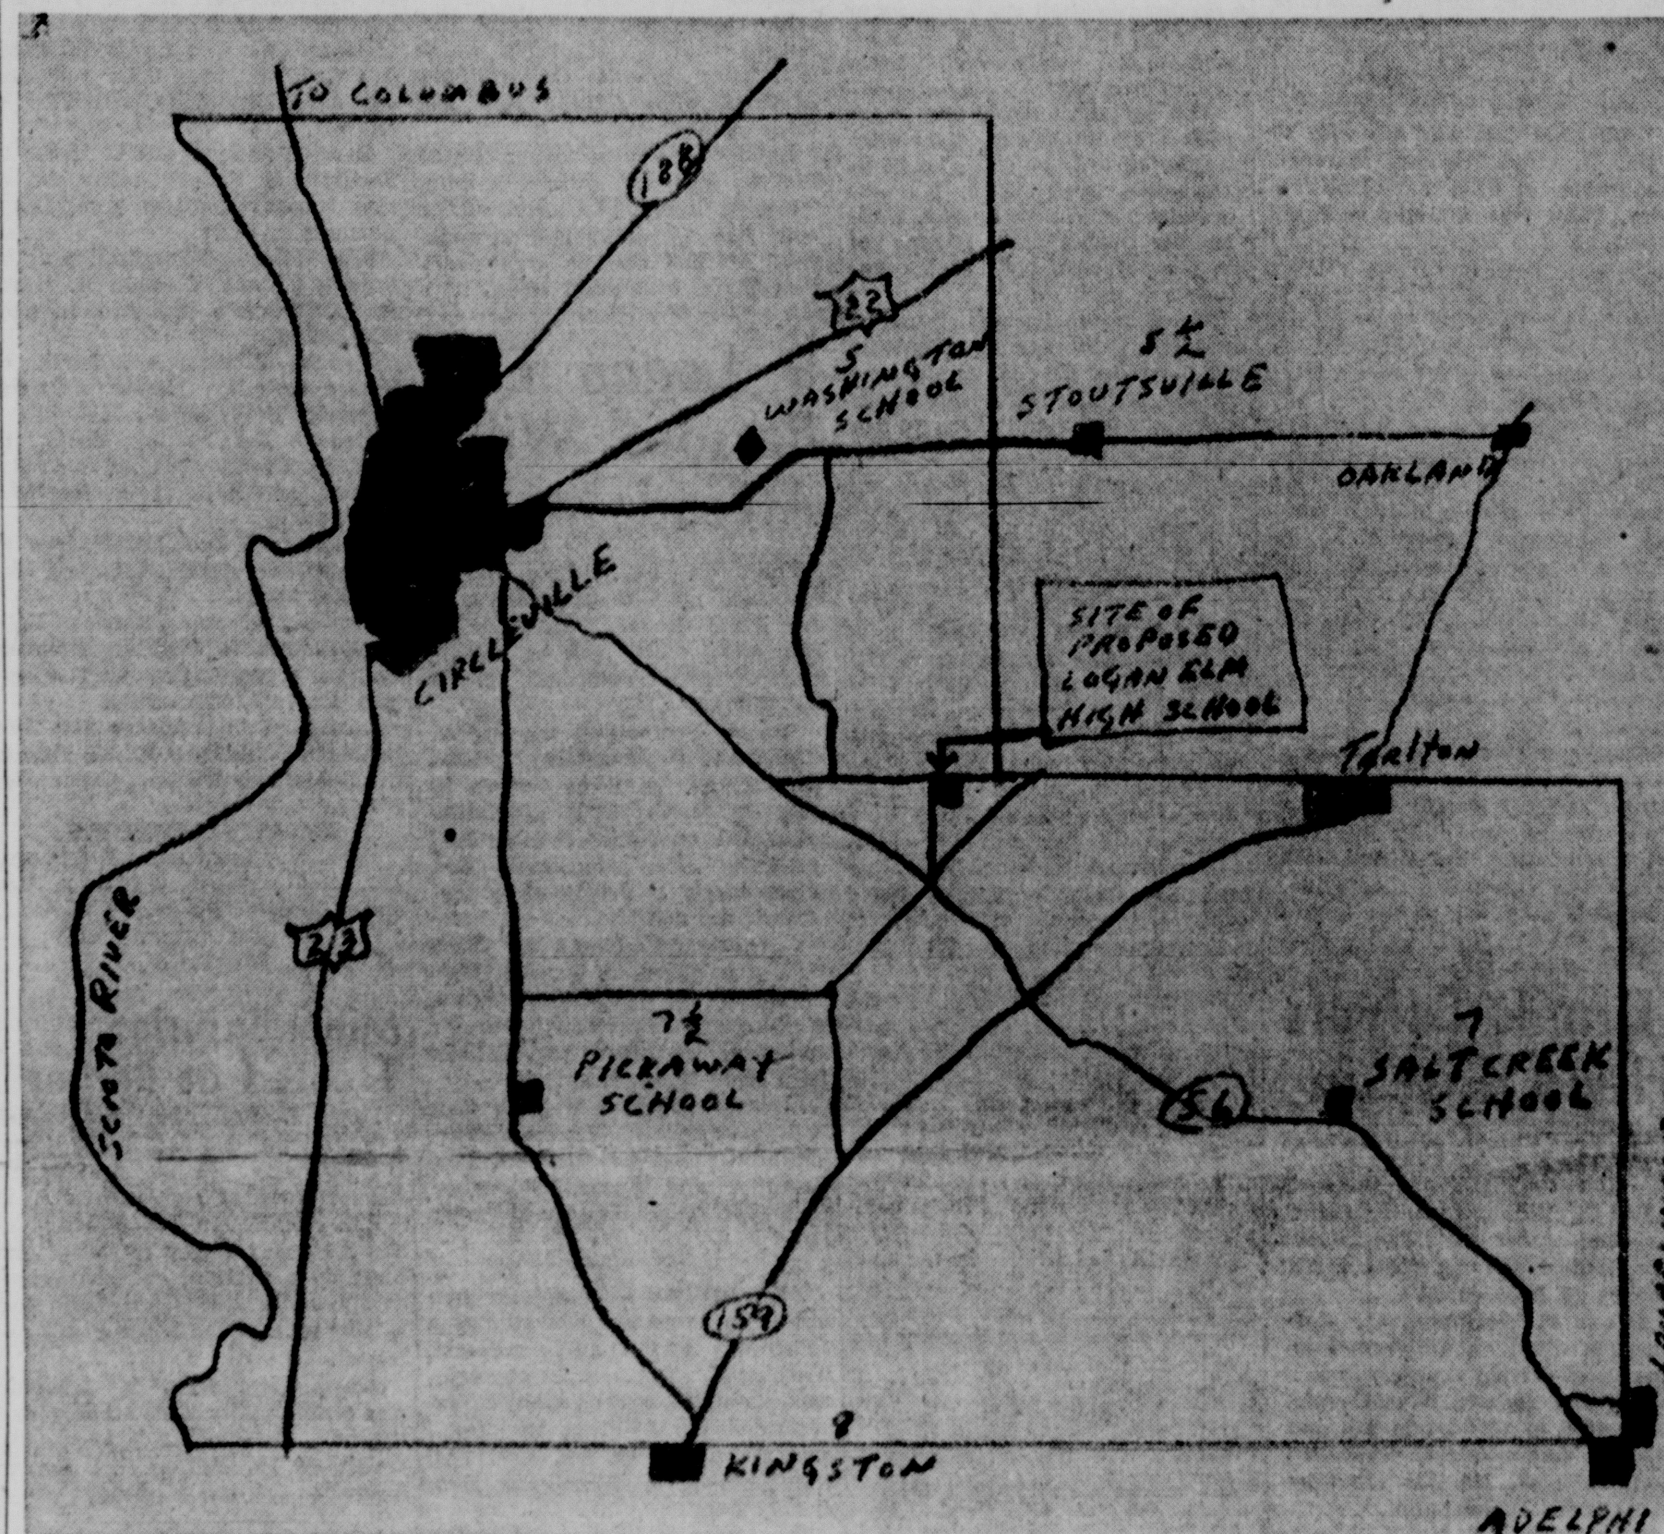

As for the House, Pennsylvania Democrats are given a chance to take from two to six seats now held by Republicans. The present House lineup is 17 Republicans, 12 Democrats and one Democratic vacancy.

8th Ballot by Cardinals Fails To Elect New Pope

Logan Elm School Site Near Ideal; District Needs Levy, Bond Issue OK

LOGAN ELM SITE—Pictured above is the proposed location of the Logan Elm high school. The $940,000 bond issue for erection of the high school, purchase of grounds and addition of a multi-purpose room in the Washington Twp. grade school will go before the residents of the Logan Elm school district on November 4. The building site is on the Raymond Moats farm on the Circleville-Tarleton Road. The school will be 1 1/2 miles from Thatcher, Washington Twp. school is 5 miles from the high school, Pickaway, 7 1/2 miles, Stoutsville, 5 1/2 miles, Salt Creek, 7 miles and Kingston, the farthest, 8 miles. The school ground of 35 acres is under option at $19,500 or approximately $550 an acre.

The proposed site of the Logan Elm High School building has been obtained under option on the Raymond Moats farm, on the Circleville-Tarleton Road. According to school board officials, a bus ride of only 15 minutes will be required from Kingston, the farthest possible school area.

After much thought and pacing off miles from all points of the Logan Elm School district, the board decided on the site.

As far as school board members know, this site is very nearly in the center of the school district. In regard to mileage, the Washington Twp. school is five miles from the proposed high school; Pickaway, 7 1/2; Salt Creek, 7; Stoutsville, 5 1/2 and Kingston, 8 miles.

To facilitate approach to the site by buses from the Pickaway and Kingston schools, an option has been taken to purchase a right-of-way for a road running north from the Zane Trail to the high school location.

A $940,000 BOND ISSUE tax levy for 3.67 mills is on the ballot to build the school for the consolidated district. The board also found it necessary to place a 2-mill renewal and a 3-mill new tax levy for a total of 5 mills for current operating expenses.

The board today emphasized that although a new high school is needed, the current operating levy is even more necessary for the continuance of the educational facilities in the Logan Elm District.

The current operating levy for the past year was 9 mills. The average operating levy in Ohio during the 1957-58 school year was 14.46 mills.

The Logan Elm Board felt it necessary, due to rising costs, to ask for a total operating levy of 12 mills to carry on adequately its educational program.

Even though two tax levies, totaling 8.57 mills, are probably the highest total ever asked in this area, they still will be only 1.04 mills more than the stage average for just current operating levies.

The failure of this current operating levy can only result in a serious curtailment of the LE school district program.

THE CURRICULUM planned for the proposed LE high school will more than double that offered by one of the present high schools, Salt Creek, and offer considerably more than the other high school, Pickaway.

The proposed course of study is: art I and II, plus advanced art I and II; junior business training; typing I and II; business arithmetic; bookkeeping I and II; shorthand I and II; business English; office practices.

English I and II; English for college preparatory literature, composition and terminal; American literature; speech; journalism; Latin I and II; Spanish I and II; French, I, II and III;

Home economics (vocational) I through IV; agriculture (vocational) I through IV; farm shop; mechanical drawing; general shop; wood shop I and II; metal shop I and II;

Algebra; general mathematics; plane geometry; shop mathematics; advanced algebra; advanced trigonometry; solid geometry; band; orchestra; glee club; choir; general music, which includes history and appreciation;

Physical education; health and first aid; driver training; general science; biology (college prep); chemistry (college prep); practical chemistry; physics (college prep); advanced science;

WORLD HISTORY (college prep); world geography; American history, and problems of democratic family living and psychiatry.

The proposed school is planned to accommodate 450 pupils. It will have eight lecture-classrooms, two science laboratories, two business education classrooms, home economics laboratories, industrial arts shop and classroom.

Library, mechanical drawing shop, vocational agricultural shop and classroom, art room, kitchen-lunch facilities, gymnasium-auditorium with maximum seating capacity of 1,100, music facilities, clinic.

Administrative offices, plus the required heating, custodial storage and rest room facilities. The entire plan can be expanded economically to house 550 students.

TPhe grade school enrollment at Salt Creek and Pickaway Twp. schools will expand into the present high school rooms of those two schools.

County and Logan Elm school officials feel this curriculum will compete with any offered by schools in Central Ohio. To fulfill this proposal, both tax levies must be passed, for voting for just one and failing the other, will certainly defeat the purpose of the entire program.

Sistine Chapel Chimney Puffs Black Smoke

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The princes of the Roman Catholic Church failed today, apparently on their eighth ballot in two days, to elect a new pope.

Black smoke curled from a chimney of the Sistine Chapel for the second time today and the fourth in two days. It meant the 51 cardinals closeted in secret meeting could reach no agreement on the man who, in their estimation, would be the best teacher and pastor for a half billion Catholics.

The Vatican radio did not commit itself definitely, but described the smoke as of such obvious blackness that one might assume there was a negative result.

Twenty minutes after the first puff, black smoke still issued from the Sistine Chapel chimney and enough time had passed to have brought any newly elected pope to the balcony.

Thus it was evident the cardinals had failed again.

The big crowd, which had grown to about 200,000 in a relatively few minutes, turned away once more in disappointment. Vatican Radio went off the air still without making its announcement definite. But there could be little doubt about the result.

The cardinals evidently had taken steps to make the hue of the smoke definite.

The cardinals went through their two morning ballots in an unusually short time.

This time there was practically no confusion about the smoke arising from the slender chimney over the Sistine Chapel as the two sets of ballots were burned. The tiny wisps of smoke soon took on a distinctly black hue and continued black, the sign that no pontiff had been chosen to succeed Pius XII.

White smoke from the chimney is supposed to indicate a new pope has been named. The addition of straw is supposed to turn the smoke black, indicating no result. Sunday something went wrong and white smoke came out twice, setting off premature and groundless rejoicing.

Today the cardinals resorted to more modern chemistry so there would be no misunderstanding. An aide said that Prince Sigismondo Chigi, marshal of the conclave, had experimented with a tar by-product, then passed it in to the cardinals through one of the closely guarded doors which are the only access to the conclave area. It was added to the fire to make the smoke unmistakably black.

The secret, walled-in conclave was about 40 hours old when the new failure was indicated by the smoke. The 51 princes of the church were to go back into session late this afternoon to try again with two more ballots if that proved necessary.

The 51 cardinals voted twice Sunday morning and twice in the afternoon but failed to give any prelate the 35 votes required for election—two thirds of those voting plus one.

No word on which candidates were running in front came from inside the walled-in, double-locked conclave area in which the princes of the church have been confined since Saturday night.

The end of each pair of ballots was accompanied by wild confusion over the smoke signs.

After every two votes, the ballots are burned in a stove inside the chapel. If a pope has been elected, the papers are burned alone and white smoke is supplied.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Backers of Issue 1 today predicted its approval by voters in the Nov. 4 election without a big spending publicity campaign.

Several statewide organizations have joined the drive for the proposal to allow metropolitan federations within major counties to improve such services as sewer, water, garbage collection, police and fire protection and the like.

OTTAWA EXPLOSION—In a mysterious, shattering blast of unknown origin, downtown Oden Theatre was reduced to rubble today, leaving a scene reminiscent of wartime blitz bombings. Early reports indicate that there were no deaths, but 35 persons were reported injured. Only the relative quiet of Saturday downtown Ottawa prevented greater casualties. Residents for a radius of a mile reported shattered windows as a result of the blast.

Unidentified Disturbance Traps 22 in Virginia Mine

BISHOP, Va. (AP)—An unidentified disturbance today trapped 22 miners in a section of the Pocahontas Fuel Co.'s Bishop mine No. 34. The extent of the damage or the condition of the men could not be determined immediately.

The trouble disrupted communications to the section.

Mine officials said 166 other men in the mine when trouble occurred at 8:20 a. m. walked out. None suffered any ill effects.

Roland C. Luther, vice president of the company, at a news conference told newsmen it was "a local disturbance" and occurred in the "dayheading section."

"I prefer not to use the word explosion," said Luther, "because we don't know what it was."

He said, however, the disturbance apparently was not very powerful because it was hardly felt at the elevator shaft a little more than a mile from the scene.

A blast in February 1957 killed 37 miners at the Bishop works on the Virginia-West Virginia border. Luther said the ventilation system in the mine areas reached by rescuers had not been damaged, indicating the disturbance was not of great a magnitude. He said this gave hopes the trapped men could be reached alive.

Of the 166 miners who escaped, those working closest to the disturbance sealed themselves off but later were removed.

Luther said the disturbance had occurred in the same section but a little further down from the Feb. 4, 1957, explosion scene.

Four rescue squads went down into the mine in relays of two, with about 15 men working at a time.

The mine entrance is four miles east of the town of Bishop, which is 27 miles southwest of Bluefield, W. Va.

Four persons were injured, none seriously, in two auto accidents in this area yesterday.

Three passengers were injured when a car driven by Roger Lee Barnes, 17, Hallsville, crashed off the Circleville-Kingston Pike at 11:15 p. m.

Taken to Berger Hospital were Betty Jo Richendollar, 15, Route 2, Kingston; Linda Karshner, 15, Route 2, Kingston; and Ernest Bramel, 17, Chillicothe. Miss Richendollar and Miss Karshner were admitted and Bramel was treated and released.

8th Ballot by Cardinals Fails To Elect New Pope

Logan Elm School Site Near Ideal; District Needs Levy, Bond Issue OK

LOGAN ELM SITE — Pictured above is the proposed location of the Logan Elm High School. The $940,000 bond issue for erection of the high school, purchase of grounds and addition of a multi-purpose room in the Washington Twp. grade school will go before the residents of the Logan Elm school district on November 4. The building site is on the Raymond Moats farm on the Circleville-Tarleton Road. The school will be 1 1/2 miles from Thatcher, Washington Twp. school is 5 miles from the high school, Pickaway, 7 1/2 miles, Stoutsville, 5 1/2 miles, Salt Creek, 7 miles and Kingston, the farthest, 8 miles. The school ground of 35 acres is under option at $19,500 or approximately $550 an acre.

The proposed site of the Logan Elm High School building has been obtained under option on the Raymond Moats farm, on the Circleville-Tarleton Road. According to school board officials, a bus ride of only 15 minutes will be required from Kingston, the farthest possible school area.

After much thought and pacing off miles from all points of the Logan Elm School district, the board decided on the site.

As far as school board members know, this site is very nearly in the center of the school district. In regard to mileage, the Washington Twp. school is five miles from the proposed high school; Pickaway, 7 1/2; Salt Creek, 7; Stoutsville, 5 1/2 and Kingston, 8 miles.

To facilitate approach to the site by buses from the Pickaway and Kingston schools, an option has been taken to purchase a right-of-way for a road running north from the Zane Trail to the high school location.

A $940,000 BOND ISSUE tax levy for 3.67 mills is on the ballot to build the school for the consolidated district. The board also found it necessary to place a 2-mill renewal and a 3-mill new tax levy for a total of 5.67 mills for current operating expenses.

The board today emphasized that although a new high school is needed, the current operating levy is even more necessary for the continuance of the educational facilities in the Logan Elm District.

The current operating levy for the past year was 9 mills. The average operating levy in Ohio during the 1957-58 school year was 14.46 mills.

The Logan Elm Board felt it necessary, due to rising costs, to ask for a total operating levy of 12 mills to carry on adequately its educational program.

Even though two tax levies, totaling 8.57 mills, are probably the highest total ever asked in this area, they still will be only 1.04 mills more than the stage average for just current operating levies.

The failure of this current operating levy can only result in a serious curtailment of the LE school district program.

THE CURRICULUM planned for the proposed LE high school will be more than double that offered by one of the present high schools, Salt Creek, and offer considerably more than the other high school, Pickaway.

The proposed course of study is: art I and II, plus advanced art I and II; junior business training, typing I and II; business arithmetic; bookkeeping I and II; shorthand I and II; business English; office practices;

English I and II; English for college preparatory literature, composition and terminal; American literature; speech; journal-

Physical education; health and first aid; driver training; general science; biology (college prep); chemistry (college prep); practical chemistry; physics (college prep); advanced science;

WORLD HISTORY (college prep); world geography; American history, and problems of democratic family living and psychiatry.

The proposed school is planned to accommodate 450 pupils. It will have eight lecture-classrooms, two science laboratories, two business education classrooms, home economics laboratories, industrial arts shop and classroom.

Library, mechanical drawing shop, vocational agricultural shop and classroom, art room, kitchen-lunch facilities, gymnasium-auditorium with maximum seating capacity of 1,100, music facilities, clinic.

Administrative offices, plus the required heating, custodial storage and rest room facilities. The entire plan can be expanded economically to house 550 students.

The trouble disrupted communications to the section.

Mine officials said 166 other men in the mine when trouble occurred at 8:20 a. m. walked out. None suffered any ill effects.

Roland C. Luther, vice president of the company, at a news conference told newsmen it was "a local disturbance" and occurred in the "dayheading section."

"I prefer not to use the word explosion," said Luther, "because we don't know what it was."

He said, however, the disturbance apparently was not very powerful because it was hardly felt at the elevator shaft a little more than a mile from the scene.

A blast in February 1957 killed 37 miners at the Bishop works on the Virginia-West Virginia border.

Luther said the ventilation system in the mine areas reached by rescuers had not been damaged, indicating the disturbance was not of great magnitude. He said this gave hopes the trapped men could be reached alive.

Of the 166 miners who escaped, those working closest to the disturbance sealed themselves off but later were removed.

Luther said the disturbance had occurred in the same section but a little further down from the Feb. 4, 1957, explosion scene.

Four rescue squads went down into the mine in relays of two, with about 15 men working at a time.

The mine entrance is four miles east of the town of Bishop, which is 27 miles southwest of Bluefield, W. Va.

Sistine Chapel Chimney Puffs Black Smoke

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The princes of the Roman Catholic Church failed today, apparently on their eighth ballot in two days, to elect a new pope.

Black smoke curled from a chimney of the Sistine Chapel for the second time today and the fourth in two days. It meant the 51 cardinals closeted in secret meeting could reach no agreement on the man who, in their estimation, would be the best teacher and pastor for a half billion Catholics.

The Vatican radio did not commit itself definitely, but described the smoke as of such obvious blackness that one might assume there was a negative result.

Twenty minutes after the first puff, black smoke still issued from the Sistine Chapel chimney and enough time had passed to have brought any newly elected pope to the balcony.

Thus it was evident the cardinals had failed again.

The big crowd, which had grown to about 200,000 in a relatively few minutes, turned away once more in disappointment. Vatican Radio went off the air still without making its announcement definite. But there could be little doubt about the result.

The cardinals evidently had taken steps to make the hue of the smoke definite.

The cardinals went through their two morning ballots in an unusually short time.

This time there was practically no confusion about the smoke arising from the slender chimney over the Sistine Chapel as the two sets of ballots were burned. The tiny wisps of smoke soon took on a distinctly black hue and continued black, the sign that no pontiff had been chosen to succeed Pius XII.

White smoke from the chimney is supposed to indicate a new pope has been named. The addition of straw is supposed to turn the smoke black, indicating no result. Sunday something went wrong and white smoke came out twice, setting off premature and groundless rejoicing.

Today the cardinals resorted to more modern chemistry so there would be no misunderstanding. An aide said that Prince Sigismondo Chigi, marshal of the conclave, had experimented with a tar by-product, then passed it in to the cardinals through one of the closely guarded doors which are the only access to the conclave area. It was added to the fire to make the smoke unmistakably black.

The secret, walled-in conclave was about 40 hours old when the new failure was indicated by the smoke. The 51 princes of the church were to go back into session late this afternoon to try again with two more ballots if that proved necessary.

The 51 cardinals voted twice Sunday morning and twice in the afternoon but failed to give any prelate the 35 votes required for election—two-thirds of those voting plus one.

No word on which candidates were running in front came from inside the walled-in, double-locked conclave area in which the princes of the church have been confined since Saturday night.

The end of each pair of ballots was accompanied by wild confusion over the smoke signs.

After every two votes, the ballots are burned in a stove inside the chapel. If a pope has been elected, the papers are burned alone and white smoke is supposed to issue.

OTTAWA EXPLOSION — In a mysterious, shattering blast of unknown origin, downtown Oden Theatre was reduced to rubble today, leaving a scene reminiscent of wartime blitz bombings. Early reports indicate that there were no deaths, but 35 persons were reported injured. Only the relative quiet of Saturday downtown Ottawa prevented greater casualties. Residents for a radius of a mile reported shattered windows as a result of the blast.

$300-a-plate Dinner Is 'Gee Whiz' Affair: 9 Courses with 9 Wines

By HUBBARD KEAVY
BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—You have to tell a story like this with the "gee whiz" approach because it is about a $300-a-plate dinner.

Tonight 50 members of the Beverly Hills Wine & Food Society will sit down to face a forest of 450 wine glasses—9 for each—and a nine-course dinner prepared with loving care by two chefs from Maxim's famous restaurant in Paris.

This gourmet's meal was previewed Saturday night for 20 of us, with Maxim's owners, Monsieur and Mme. Louis Vaudable in clucking attendance. With each course and each wine I said "gosh" to myself but when they brought on an 1878 cognac, I had to say "gee whiz" right out loud.

This dinner, as well as tonight's, was promoted. The Vaudables are doing it for dear old publicity. Co-hosts Allen Chase, a financier at whose hilltop home the 50 will gather; Art Linkletter, the TV man, and J. H. Kindelberger, president of North American Aviation, decided a year ago to out-do anything their exclusive wine and food society ever had attempted. They have.

Chase wrote Maxim's proposing they fly over cooks, comestibles and wine. The Vaudables leaped at the opportunity.

Obviously with Maxim's putting on most of the spread, the gourmets are not paying $30 a plate. But they would, had they footed the bills for transportation and wine ($4,500). Instead, they will be assessed their usual $30 per plate—which will not quite cover the costs of several waiters, dish washers, flowers and possible breakage of the crystal ware.

A white wine bottled 58 years ago was served with hors d'oeuvres. Then a cold cream soup made of mussels and shrimp. The fish course: a turbot soufflé with two sauces: champagne and lobster.

The "filet de boeuf en croute et au foie gras" was excellent filet mignon dolled up with goose liver, truffles and cooked in a pastry crust. Fried celery root followed, with mustard sauce, but this could have been omitted.

There were half a dozen cheeses including Brie and Camembert. What seemed the best came last—"crepes Madame de..." delicate pancakes covered with vanilla soufflé and glazed pineapple flamed with kirsch.

The wines will have to be dismissed with a paragraph, which is horribly unfair to such vintages of three whites, three reds and three champagnes.

Linkletter was so overwhelmed that he was left without a quip. "This is living," is about all he could say. But neither of us would want to live such a way every day. Gosh, who could afford it?

posed to spiral from the chimney. If there has been no election, a handful of damp straw is added and black smoke is supposed to come out.

Something went wrong Sunday. After the morning ballots, a cloud of white smoke shot up just before noon, and many in the crowd of about 60,000 in the square sent up shouts of joy. In a moment the smoke turned to gray and finally black.

A throng of nearly 200,000 in the square awaited the second signal at nightfall.

This time white smoke rolled out the chimney for fully five minutes.

"A pope is elected," declared the Vatican radio. News agencies sent the word around the world. The crowd cheered and waved handkerchiefs.

Even Vatican officials were fooled.

The Palatine Guard was called from its barracks to proceed to St. Peter's Basilica for the formal announcement of the new pontiff's name.

Then uncertainty set in. The guards were sent back to their barracks. When 20 minutes had passed without a new pope appearing on the balcony, the doubt spread rapidly. Finally the crowd began to disperse.

There was confusion in the palace until assurances finally were received from within the conclave that black smoke was intended.

There was no official explanation of the mixup.

Resorters Hand Indians 50-26 Defeat

The Stoutsville Indians accepted a six man football challenge Saturday night and suffered a 50-26 setback at the hands of challenger, Magnetic Springs.

The Indians entered the game with a 4-1 Pickaway County league record, losing only to champion Darby, 12-0. Magnetic Springs had a 7-0 record, leading the Double "M" League of Marion, Morrow and Union counties.

The Magnetic Springs Resorters outweighed Stoutsville almost 45 lbs. per man. Five of its six starters weighed in at 200, while Stoutsville's heaviest man is Richard Bussert at 173.

Indian coach Kermit McCafferty stated this was the best game Stoutsville has played all season and that it faced the toughest defensive squad of the year.

THE INDIANS were beaten by two forces. One was the loss of star halfback, Bussert, early in the third quarter with severely sprained ribs. The other was the running of Resorters Ron Coder, 208 lbs. and Chuck Sullivan, 218.

McCafferty stated these two backs were faster than any of his boys and were well coached. Magnetic also used the handoff, which is illegal in county play, and this maneuver kept his squad off balanced all evening.

Bussert was the leading yard gainer, even though out for practically an entire half, with 238 yards in 15 carries for an average of 16 yards per carry.

The junior back reeled off runs of 65, 43 and 75 yards during the evening. The Indians ran from a spread formation and passed 15 times completing six.

Stoutsville led briefly in the first quarter, 7-6, but the Resorters scored midway in the first period to take a 12-7 margin and continued to lead from that point on.

Resorters Hand Indians 50-26 Defeat

The Stoutsville Indians accepted a six man football challenge Saturday night and suffered a 50-26 setback at the hands of challenger, Magnetic Springs.

The Indians entered the game with a 4-1 Pickaway County league record, losing only to champion Darby, 12-0. Magnetic Springs had a 7-0 record, leading the Double "M" League of Marion, Morrow and Union counties.

The Magnetic Springs Resorters outweighed Stoutsville almost 45 lbs. per man. Five of its six starters weighed in at 200, while Stoutsville's heaviest man is Richard Bussert at 173.

Indian coach Kermit McCafferty stated this was the best game Stoutsville has played all season and that it faced the toughest defensive squad of the year.

THE INDIANS were beaten by two forces. One was the loss of star halfback, Bussert, early in the third quarter with severely sprained ribs. The other was the running of Resorters Ron Coder, 208 lbs. and Chuck Sullivan, 218.

McCafferty stated these two backs were faster than any of his boys and were well coached. Magnetic also used the handoff, which is illegal in county play, and this maneuver kept his squad off balanced all evening.

Bussert was the leading yard gainer, even though out for practically an entire half, with 238 yards in 15 carries for an average of 16 yards per carry.

The junior back reeled off runs of 65, 43 and 75 yards during the evening. The Indians ran from a spread formation and passed 15 times completing six.

Stoutsville led briefly in the first quarter, 7-6, but the Resorters scored midway in the first period to take a 12-7 margin and continued to lead from that point on.

the bills for transportation and wine ($4,500). Instead, they will be assessed their usual $30 per plate—which will not quite cover the costs of several waiters, dish washers, flowers and possible breakage of the crystal ware.

A white wine bottled 58 years ago was served with hors d'oeuvres. Then a cold cream soup made of mussels and shrimp. The fish course: a turbot soufflé with two sauces: champagne and lobster.

The "filet de boeuf en croûte au foie gras" was excellent filet mignon dolled up with goose liver, truffles and cooked in a pastry crust. Fried celery root followed, with mustard sauce, but this could have been omitted.

There were half a dozen cheeses including Brie and Camembert. What seemed the best came last—"crepes Madame de..." delicate pancakes covered with vanilla soufflé and glazed pineapple flambéed with kirsch.

The wines will have to be dismissed with a paragraph, which is horribly unfair to such vintages of three whites, three reds and three champagnes.

Linkletter was so overwhelmed that he was left without a quip. "This is living," is about all he could say. But neither of us would want to live such a way every day. Gosh, who could afford it?

Steady Upturn in Business Predicted by U.S. Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — No runaway boom in sight, but a steady upturn that should benefit all major lines of business. . . . That's what leaders of industry and finance were predicting this week as economic indicators pointed higher. . . . A hesitant stock market took some of the edge off the unbounded optimism that had ruled in many quarters. Forecasts of a new round of tight money also had a sobering effect. . . . But there was no denying that the fall recovery still packed plenty of power. . . . Steel production cracked the two-million-ton barrier for the second week in a row; paper-board production — 314,445 tons — set a record. Railroad freight loadings were the best so far this year. Department store sales scored a six per cent gain over 1957. . . . Labor troubles at a handful of plants still hobbled the auto industry but Detroit, anxious to make up for lost time, was ready to step on the gas. Auto retailers chewed their nails, waiting for delivery of 1959 models. It was like old times in the auto showrooms — more customers than cars. . . . Betting heavily on an upturn was the giant Pennsylvania Railroad. The railroad maintained its record of unbroken dividend payments intact, declaring a dividend for the 11th consecutive year despite a nine-month loss of more than 64 million dollars. James M. Symes, president, said the Pennsylvania directors were guided in their decision by the improved business outlook. . . . Two of the nation's biggest oil companies also reported signs of improving business. Standard Oil Co. (N.J.) and Socony Mobil Oil Co. each reported nine-month earnings down sharply (30 per cent for Jersey and 34 per cent for Socony) from a year ago. Each, however, boasted a solid gain over the two prior quarters for the July-August-September period. . . . The companies had a ready explanation for the decline in earnings from last year: they sold more oil products, including gasoline, but at lower prices. . . . Prices made other news this week. The government announced that its consumer price index, which is supposed to measure what it costs you to live, failed to show an increase last month. This in itself is news, because the index until August had climbed steadily for two years. . . . It has failed to go up now for two months straight. Best guess in government circles is that the index may edge up a bit in October and then hold steady for the next six months. In explaining how it arrived at its September index (123.7 per cent of the 1947-49 average) the government said increases in the cost of clothing, transportation and medical care were offset by lower food prices. . . . While living costs are up about 2.1 per cent on average from a year ago, buying power of the U. S. factory worker has more than kept pace. That's because the U. S. factory worker set a

Researchers Believe Stress May Bring Coronary Disease

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A medical research team has turned up some physical evidence suggesting that stresses imposed by living in the United States hasten coronary disease. . . . The investigators examined minutely the hearts and great arteries of 139 Negroes in South Carolina and 128 Negroes in Haiti. They found twice as much coronary artery hardening in the South Carolinians as in the Haitians. . . . Results of the study were reported today in a paper before the American Heart Assn. by Dr. Dale Groom, of the Medical College of South Carolina at Charleston. Dr. Groom headed the undertaking. . . . The hearts and arteries were taken at autopsy, without regard to the cause of death. The amount of hardening, not necessarily enough to cause illness or death, was calculated in each case. The total amount of hardening material found was calculated for each group. . . . The two groups were regarded as being alike in everything except environment. . . . There were group differences in diet and climate, which are items of environment, but these were not enough to explain the greater amount of disease in the Carolinians, Dr. Groom said. . . . This leaves social tension, competition and the complexity of modern living as the apparent differences which might account for the added disease state, Dr. Groom reported. . . . Dr. Groom said the findings failed to incriminate fat as a disease factor because the fat content of the general diets was roughly the same. . . . The investigators said that the Haitian, who more, exercised more, worried less and lived at a much slower tempo than the Negro of the United States. Although the Haitians are constantly struggling against poverty and hunger this does not seem to produce psychological stress, they added. . . . Insane Woman, 71, Cleared in Slaying . . . ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Anna Holub, 71, was cleared of a second degree murder charge Friday in Belmont County Common Pleas Court. County Prosecutor William Irwin said the court dismissed the charge because her defense, not guilty by reason of insanity, had been proven. Mrs. Holub, formerly of Glencoe in Belmont County, was accused of slaying her husband, Joseph, 71, in April, 1956. She had been in Lima State Hospital, but was discharged recently as restored to reason.

CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A petition is reportedly circulating in Belmont County asking clemency for Joseph Buza, 20, and his brother, Bert, 17, sentenced to die in the Ohio Penitentiary electric chair Nov. 14. The brothers, both deaf mutes, were convicted of the April, 1957, slaying of Mrs. Margaret Denham, 76, operator of a filling station-grocery in Barton, Ohio. New Battle Promised on Delinquency

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill today announced new steps to combat juvenile delinquency and all types of accidents. . . . He said staffs will be increased at Ohio's institutions for juveniles. . . . And he will ask the next Legislature to finance a safety center at Ohio State University for training to curb accidents. . . . "Last April I proposed that a safety center be established at some Ohio college or university to provide this necessary training," O'Neill said. . . . "Since then a dozen Ohio organizations have worked out a plan to establish this safety center at Ohio State University. It will take money, of course, to get this much-needed program in operation and I am going to ask the next General Assembly to appropriate the necessary money. . . . "The records show that there are around 4,700 fatal accidents in Ohio each year, that nearly half a million people are injured and that property damage runs around 100 million dollars." . . . The governor said a four-point program to combat juvenile delinquency already is under way. He listed the points as: . . . 1. Remodeling facilities at all juvenile institutions. . . . 2. Building new kinds of centers for treating juvenile problems. . . . 3. Adding funds for professional and other staff at all juvenile institutions. . . . 4. Increasing the number of regional placement bureaus from four to seven.

Reversal on Bikes

A sweeping U. S. Customs Court decision reversing a 1955 tariff increase on imported bicycles has cast doubt on the President's authority under the "escape clause" in the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. The clause was designed to protect domestic industries in cases where threat of injury from increased imports could be demonstrated.

President Eisenhower had increased the duty on imported two-wheelers from the Tariff Commission's recommendation of 7.5 per cent to 11.5 per cent. The three-judge court held that Congress did not give the President power to modify the commission's recommendations. It ruled that the President may "accept or reject commission findings, not compromise them."

The decision in the bicycle case is the first in the 24-year history of trade agreements acts invalidating the President's use of his tariff power. If allowed to stand, the ruling could have far-reaching effect upon U. S. tariff policy generally.

Specifically, the decision raises questions about the legality of the quotas placed upon zinc and lead imports last month and the tariff increases imposed in recent years under the "escape clause" on such imports as watches, spring clothespins and clover seed. In all, 11 such cases of relief have been granted.

The bicycle case is in the nature of a paradox. When extension of the trade agreements act came up before Congress this year, the protectionists sought in vain to limit the President's power over Tariff Commission recommendations.

Mr. Eisenhower has leaned toward liberal trade regulation and in many cases has rejected or cut the commission's proposals for higher tariffs. Whichever way the government's suit in the higher Court of Customs and Patent Appeals goes, it will be up to Congress early in the next session to redefine its intentions on a vital issue of presidential authority.

Men's suit makers are striving for a pattern that will make the wearer look thin. Pushing away from the dinner table sooner will achieve the same effect.

No Hand-Shakes During Winter

LONDON (AP) —The strange case of the man who is not running for Parliament has been solved at last. It is now known that he will cease shaking hands around the end of November.

This man, who for our purposes may be called Frank Baker, is always standing around street corners shaking hands with various residents of the suburb. He works hard at it, and the conclusion was reached that he must be seeking to win friends for political ends.

Sears the janitor was asked to confirm this.

"Hah!" snorted Sears. "The only thing he's running for is to be the richest man in Hampstead. That's the local street book-maker."

Frank, a tall, red-faced fellow in his 50s, is a genial sort, but it was suggested that this hardly explained his compulsion to shake hands. It was noted that he had even been seen shaking hands with some people twice within an hour so.

"You are a green one, aincha?" said Sears. "Whenever Frank shakes hands he puts his hand back into his pocket with a piece of paper and some money in it. The paper has the name of a horse written on it. The money is a bet on the horse."

The American observer remarked in shocked tones that such cash betting is against the law.

"It may be illegal, but it ain't immoral," snapped Sears. "Have a flutter on a horse now and then yourself, don't you?"

The reply was made that any such bets are telephoned to a bookmaker on a credit basis. Settlements—usually in favor of the bookie—are made weekly by check through the mails. This is 100 per cent legal under British statutes.

"Certainly," said Sears. "But to open a credit account you have to give a banking reference. A working type like me can't give a banking reference because he hasn't never had nothing in the bank. But illegal or not, I got just as much right to bet the horses as you have. That's where Frank comes in."

It was recalled that Frank usually shakes hands like mad on the day of a big race, such as the Epsom Derby. But on the following morning he seems to shake hardly any hands at all.

"On the day of the race," Sears explained patiently, "He is taking bets. On the following morning he is paying off the winners."

"He stops taking bets when the flat racing season ends in November," said Sears. "Says too many favorites win over the jumps during the winter. So during the winter months you never see Frank shaking hands."

Talent Should Be Nurtured

I was looking through the sheets of bills passed by Congress and approved by the President and came across Public Law 85-826 which is "To authorize the chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy to confer a medal on Rear Admiral Hyman George Rickover, United States Navy."

Well, this is very nice, indeed. The sum of $2,500 is appropriated for the purpose of having a gold medal struck and presented to Admiral Hyman George Rickover, United States Navy. Also duplicates in bronze of such a medal are to be coined and sold to cover the cost thereof. I do not know where such a medal can be purchased if you care to have a duplicate in bronze.

But the question still arises whether Adm. Rickover, the father of the atomic-powered submarine, is to be promoted so that he can remain in the Navy and continue to use his mind and his abilities in the interest of the United States. This country is not so rich in talent that it can afford to lose any.

As for Adm. Rickover, there is no doubt whatsoever that he can get a good job with private industry, just as Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Gen. Lucius Clay and other men, whose talents are of value to the country, are selling electric razors, tin cans and other commodities that might just as well be made and sold by lesser minds. If Gen. MacArthur, for instance, had not been pushed aside, our situation in the Far East might not be so perilous today.

To me Adm. Rickover is a symbol of this carelessness about talented men. We have moved into a new kind of warfare, into a world of new ideas, new methods, new strategy and new tactics. Just note one picture: John Foster Dulles is in Rome attending the Pope's funeral; he holds a conference there with the French and West German Foreign Ministers. He then takes his plane to London, has dinner with the British Foreign Minister. He thereupon returns to his plane, flies over the North Pole to Formosa to enter into conferences with Chiang Kai-shek. He left Rome Sunday after lunch; he left London Sunday shortly after 10 p. m.; he arrived on Formosa Tuesday at 10:08 a. m.

That is the speed of diplomacy these days. It gives a slight picture of the speed of war. Perhaps by the time that such a peril may be upon us, if we have notice of 18 minutes, we shall be fortunate. In World War II, we took 18 months to warm up.

In such an atmosphere, talent is required to meet every exigency. Talent is difficult to find. It is not everywhere, in everybody. Of course, many human beings believe themselves to be neglected and deserted talents, ignored by those in authority, but the fact remains that when one has done a job as Ad. Hyman Rickover has done for the United States, he has demonstrated his exceptional value.

It matters little that some Naval men believe that the dignity of the Navy requires that only line officers should hold the top brass titles. What the United States has to worry about is not the dignity of the admirals but the ability of the United States to defend itself.

You're Telling Me!

By HOYT KING
Central Press Writer

The town council of Upie, France, has fired its mayor after finding him guilty of "administrative idleness." In other words, he was just a high class loafer.

Junior observed International Letter Writing Week by sending a pre-season note to Santa Claus at the North Pole—natch!

Wealthy Britons are often sloppily dressed, reports London's Wholesale Textile association. Sort of "seedy splendor"?

A Londoner has been arrested 83 times for stealing candlesticks. Obviously one of the light-fingered gentry.

These days things must seem pretty quiet for the New Orleans Sportsmen's league. The boys have just concluded their annual duck-calling contest.

When a fellow employee was fired for passing around football pool slips on company time, 50 Chesterfield, England, glass factory workers staged a strike. Probably figured the boss was guilty of unnecessary roughness.

By George Sokolsky

It might also be said that Adm. Rickover is not an indispensable man and that if he had not fathered the "Nautilus," someone else would have, which is undoubtedly true. However, he did do that job, just as Edison did his job on the electric light and Marconi on radio. And there are historians and scientists who will contest that they were the great firsts just as there are those who say Shakespeare did not write Shakespeare but that someone else did.

The fact remains that Rickover did this feat, against great opposition a mong Naval men who regard his ideas as ridiculous. The truth is that our atom-driven submarines have already achieved wonders and we shall have a fleet of them and it may so happen that many of the line officers will have to doff their "whites," and wear overalls. We are living in a different age.

To repeat: talent is a rare quality; that routine minds are a dime a dozen; that when men of talent are found, they should be treasured, and their particular talents should be put to work for the benefit of the United States.

Teeth Breaks Need Care

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
Dentists tell me that accidents in which children's teeth are broken are increasing.

With our playgrounds as crowded as they are, with power brakes making quicker automobile stops possible, I suppose it is only natural that youngsters' teeth are more prone to injury from this cause. And the teeth most apt to suffer, unfortunately, are those four upper teeth right in front where everyone can see them, or the lack of them.

If a front tooth of your child is broken, or pushed out of place by an accident, or by other causes, take him to a dentist immediately.

In many cases, prompt action can save an injured permanent tooth, even one that has been knocked loose in its socket. Immediate treatment is essential, especially if the root is fractured or the pulp involved.

At times, a tooth that is displaced by the force of a blow can be repositioned if seen shortly after the accident.

In the case of dislodged teeth, there have been instances where root canal fillings have been performed, after which the teeth were successfully placed in their proper positions.

When a root is fractured, the chances of saving it depends to a large extent on the location of the break.

Now any accident involving youngsters' primary teeth is more likely to displace the teeth than to break them.

In some cases, the force of the blow is strong enough to push a tooth completely up into the gum. While this, like any other tooth accident, should be examined immediately by a dentist, the chances for saving the tooth are probably pretty good.

In fact, if x-rays show no fracture in the roots, the tooth very likely will re-erupt and resume its former position in the mouth.

I think you will agree that every effort should be made to restore a dislodged or fractured front tooth. The lack of such a tooth is somewhat embarrassing even for children.

Dr. Norman H. Olsen, chairman of the pedodontics department at the Northwestern University Dental School, warns:

"An unsightly condition in the anterior region of the mouth may contribute immeasurably to an inferiority complex."

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is an ABC on the argument over right-to-work laws which ban the union shop. Eighteen states have such laws now. In six other states, voters will decide Nov. 4 whether they, too, want such laws.

The Taft-Hartley Labor Act of 1947, like the Wagner Act before it, recognizes the right of employees to organize a union to bargain with their employer. But it outlaws the closed shop, under which every employee and every new one hired must be a union member.

T-H permits the union shop where a union and employer agree. This provides that every employee must join the union and every new employee must join within 30 to 60 days of being hired. In a union shop anyone who quits the union loses his job.

But there's a gimmick in T-H on this: it says states can pass laws forbidding the union shop. In the 18 states which have already done so this anti-union shop legislation has become known as the right-to-work law.

Here are the 18 with such laws: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Iowa, Mississippi, Nebraska, Nevada, North and South Carolina, North and South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, and Virginia.

Here are the six in which the right-to-work proposals are a real issue in this year's campaign: Ohio, Kansas, Colorado, Idaho, Washington, California.

Generally, business backs the right-to-work laws while organized labor is the main opponent. There are arguments for and against a union shop.

Against it are these arguments:

1. That in a free society a worker should not have to join a union against his will. Some men have strong principles against union membership—at least for themselves. Some believe that by their own initiative they can get more benefits than are obtainable through a union.

2. That union members may some day get disgusted with their union and want to quit. They know they can't quit where there's a union shop without losing their jobs.

3. That where there's a union but membership is not compulsory the union leaders will be more responsive to the members than where members, as in a union shop, can't quit in protest.

4. That with everyone compelled to join a union—and lose his job if he quits—the door is open for corrupt deals between crooked union leaders and employers. For example: by agreeing on a sub-standard contract that flimsies flames the rank-and-file union members. For the union shop are these arguments:

1. That right-to-work laws weaken, if they do not wreck, unions. For example:

A. In a shop less than 100 per cent organized, a union's strength is less than it might be in bargaining with an employer.

B. In such a place the value or effectiveness of a strike or strike threat—to force an employer to meet the union's demands—is greatly diminished when he knows not all his employees will walk out and shut down his shop.

C. Anti-union shop laws enable an employer to try to wreck a union when, in hiring new employees, he takes on only those opposing unions until they outnumber the union members.

2. That all employees in a group, both union and nonunion, share the benefits won by collective bargaining and thus should have to share the union's expenses by paying dues.

3. That those who believe they can do better by themselves without a union are misguided because a man dealing singly with an employer can't get what a union can bargaining collectively and with the force of numbers.

4. That there's no reason why union leaders should be indifferent to the members' desires, or make deals with the employer at the expense of the rank-and-file members, if the members are alert, go to meetings to see what's going on, and through the democratic process of elections throw out the leaders who betray them.

(A glaring argument against No. 4 is the corruption in the Teamsters' Union, although evidence of such corruption in unions in general has been very small.)

Reversal on Bikes

A sweeping U. S. Customs Court decision reversing a 1955 tariff increase on imported bicycles has cast doubt on the President's authority under the "escape clause" in the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. The clause was designed to protect domestic industries in cases where threat of injury from increased imports could be demonstrated.

President Eisenhower had increased the duty on imported two-wheelers from the Tariff Commission's recommendation of 7.5 per cent to 11.5 per cent. The three-judge court held that Congress did not give the President power to modify the commission's recommendations. It ruled that the President may "accept or reject commission findings, not compromise them."

The decision in the bicycle case is the first in the 24-year history of trade agreements acts invalidating the President's use of his tariff power. If allowed to stand, the ruling could have far-reaching effect upon U. S. tariff policy generally.

Specifically, the decision raises questions about the legality of the quotas placed upon zinc and lead imports last month and the tariff increases imposed in recent years under the "escape clause" on such imports as watches, spring clothespins and clover seed. In all, 11 such cases of relief have been granted.

The bicycle case is in the nature of a paradox. When extension of the trade agreements act came up before Congress this year, the protectionists sought in vain to limit the President's power over Tariff Commission recommendations.

Mr. Eisenhower has leaned toward liberal trade regulation and in many cases has rejected or cut the commission's proposals for higher tariffs. Whichever way the government's suit in the higher Court of Customs and Patent Appeals goes, it will be up to Congress early in the next session to redefine its intentions on a vital issue of presidential authority.

LONDON (AP) —The strange case of the man who is not running for Parliament has been solved at last. It is now known that he will cease shaking hands around the end of November.

This man, who for our purposes may be called Frank Baker, is always standing around street corners shaking hands with various residents of the suburb. He works hard at it, and the conclusion was reached that he must be seeking to win friends for political ends.

Sears the janitor was asked to confirm this.

"Hah!" snorted Sears. "The only thing he's running for is to be the richest man in Hampstead. That's the local street book-maker."

Frank, a tall, red-faced fellow in his 50s, is a genial sort, but it was suggested that this hardly explained his compulsion to shake hands. It was noted that he had even been seen shaking hands

"You are a green one, aincha?" said Sears. "Whenever Frank shakes hands he puts his hand back into his pocket with a piece of paper and some money in it. The paper has the name of a horse written on it. The money is a bet on the horse."

The American observer remarked in shocked tones that such cash betting is against the law.

"It may be illegal, but it ain't immoral," snapped Sears. "Have a flutter on a horse now and then yourself, don't you?"

The reply was made that any such bets are telephoned to a bookmaker on a credit basis. Settlements—usually in favor of the bookie—are made weekly by check through the mails. This is 100 per cent legal under British statutes.

"Certainly," said Sears. "But to open a credit account you have to give a banking reference. A working type like me can't give a banking reference because he hasn't never had nothing in the bank. But illegal or not, I got just as much right to bet the horses as you have. That's where Frank comes in."

It was recalled that Frank usually shakes hands like mad on the day of a big race, such as the Epsom Derby. But on the following morning he seems to shake hardly any hands at all.

"On the day of the race," Sears explained patiently, "He is taking bets. On the following morning he is paying off the winners."

"He stops taking bets when the racing season ends in November," said Sears. "Says too many favorites win over the jumps during the winter. So during the winter months you never see Frank shaking hands."

NEW YORK (AP)—The highest grade corporate bonds are yielding their owners more income if bought at today's prices than most of the prominent common stocks. But the bonds, especially governments, are finding few takers even at the present greatly reduced prices.

And the latest action of the Federal Reserve banks that raised their interest charges when lending to member banks isn't aimed at disturbing this arrangement.

The Federal Reserve says it's merely acting to bring its discount rate closer in line to the interest rates commanded by other forms of short term lending.

But the general rise in interest charges was set off by the Federal Reserve in the first place when it raised its rate last summer and when it took other measures to show it thought tighter money was needed to hold off another turn of the inflation screw.

Bonds are considered a safer form of investment, but investors seem to prefer the more risky common stocks even when yielding less.

The accent isn't on income just now. It's on the expectation of capital gains if stock prices rise further.

A similar situation arose in 1928 and 1929. Speculators preferred the chance of increases in prices of common stocks to the safety of bonds. The yield on top bonds went to around 5 per cent and the average return on leading stocks dropped to 3 per cent.

Now the best bonds yield a little better than 4 per cent and stocks average out at around 3½ per cent.

This sort of psychology thrives when the economy is expanding, or when people think it is going to, or believe that continuing inflation will raise the prices of stocks along with everything else.

It is into this sort of atmosphere that the U. S. Treasury is stepping out again next month to raise another 3½ billion dollars of new or borrowed money.

Because of the temper of the bond market, most Wall Street observers expect the treasury to stay close to the pattern of its last borrowing a few weeks back, when it tapped only the short term market, which to a large extent meant the banks.

The Federal Reserve is tidying up its house to be set to help the banks find the money the treasury needs. All hands seem to have their fingers crossed, hoping that the new borrowing won't fan any inflationary fires.

Accord Urged By Catholics, Protestants

CINCINNATI (AP) — A noted New England clergyman says he thinks Protestants and Roman Catholics need better understanding of a common faith.

Dr. Theodore P. Ferris, rector of Boston's Trinity Episcopal Church, told the 13th annual Festival of Faith here Sunday that Protestants inherited the Bible, Christian creeds, sacraments and liturgy from the old church.

He said, "The degree to which a Protestant shares in any or all of these things, to that degree he is a Catholic . . .

"It would clear the air of the religious world if we Protestants could get it across to Roman Catholics that we worship the same God they do, believe in the same incarnate Lord, try to live by the same divine pattern of life and pray for the same eternal life they pray for; and if the Roman Catholics could make it plain to us Protestants that in spite of great differences of ceremony and ritual,

Unregistered Gun Nets 2-Year Prison Term

CINCINNATI (AP)—A two year prison term is the penalty for Samuel Lee Schiltz, 33, of Portsmouth on his guilty plea to a charge of possession of unregistered firearms. Judge John Druffel set the term in U. S. District Court Friday after government prosecutors said Schiltz had a sawed-off shotgun and used it to blow a hole in the roof of a cafe in a brawl last month.

in spite of significant differences in doctrine, they are nevertheless servants of the same master we serve."

The festival, which drew 14,000 Protestant clergy and laymen from southwest Ohio, marks the anniversary of Martin Luther's first dissent from earlier church teaching. Dr. Ferris said the church always needs reformation.

He said, "Our churches right now are crying out to be transformed from social halls and business offices into temples where men can worship God and then go about their work with a new vision and an altogether different motive."

RTW Issue 'May' Hurt O'Neill Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio) says Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill's strong support for a constitutional amendment to regulate labor contracts "might be a bad thing for him."

Except for that possibility, she said, O'Neill should win re-election Nov. 4.

Mrs. Bolton, in Washington for a hearing of a House foreign affairs subcommittee, also said:

"He's (O'Neill) missed a couple of (political) meetings, and that's made people sore."

O'Neill, a Republican, is opposed by Michael V. DiSalle, a Democrat. DiSalle opposes the "right to work" proposal, which would outlaw the union shop in Ohio.

A reporter asked Mrs. Bolton her opinion of the re-election prospects of Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) in his race with Democrat Stephen Young of Cleveland.

"John (Bricker) is having a good deal of a race," Mrs. Bolton replied quickly. "I think he'll make it, but I've never seen him work so hard."

Mrs. Bolton rated her own chances of re-election as good, but said her opponent, Chat Patterson, a Democrat, may reduce the big majorities she has piled up in the past.

But Mrs. Bolton added that this year's elections are tough to figure.

"There has never been such a funny election," she said. "It's like dropping mercury on the floor and trying to pick it up."

Horrors! British Barbers Hike Haircuts to 35 Cents

LONDON (AP)—Barbers Harry Norman and Jack Peaman have made a move which caused them severe fear and trembling. They raised the price of a haircut to 35 cents, from 28.

"It may run us out of business," said Harry, "but we couldn't go on the way we were."

Norman and Peaman have a typical small British barber shop in northwest London, the persistent postwar rise in the cost of living has caught them short. It's a lucky week when they net as much as $25 apiece.

The reasons the two barbers give for their price increase run about the same as those of their American counterparts when they jacked up prices to $1.50 or more.

"Everything else is up — rent, gas, the electric, hair oil, soap," said Harry. "It was either put up our price or take down our pole. All we know is hair cutting, so we put up the price."

"Even if it costs us customers, we may do a little better because the tips are bigger," said Jack. "We used to get mostly sixpence tips. Now we get quite a few shillings." Sixpence is 7 cents, a shilling 14.

"We've lost some customers, all right," Harry said bitterly. "One of our regulars comes in the other day and starts to take off his raincoat. His eye falls on our new price list."

"He shrugs his shoulders back into his coat, turns around and walks out without even saying good morning."

"Another one who quit us said he could get a haircut right in the neighborhood for a shilling," Jack chimed in. "He can, too. Cutthroat competition. Barbers working on shops downtown cut hair at home after hours for anything they can get. Beer money."

Jack, 54, started out as an apprentice at the age of 13. "Haircuts were sixpence in those days," said Jack. "But sixpence in those days would buy more than the two shillings sixpence we charge now."

"A lot of people seem to think we should still charge sixpence," said Harry. "What's the matter, we're not human? Barbers don't eat?"

McElroy Claims Saxbe Deceiving in Deal

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mark McElroy, Democratic candidate for attorney general Sunday charged Republican Atty. Gen. William Saxbe with deceit in dealings on the purchase of land for public use. Speaking at a series of rallies, McElroy said Saxbe "extorts political opportunism . . . by telling newspapers that he is opposed to the state's take-it-or-leave-it, one-price land policy and at the same time appointing special counsel at $200 a day to take the land cases into court."

Mark Twain once described the 21-mile long Bermuda island chain (365 islands) as "the biggest little country in the world."

Spain is separated from France by the Pyrenees Mountains which reach a height of more than 11,000 feet.

Highest Grade Corporate Bond Yield Is High

Teen Can Be Graceful As a Prima Ballerina

BALLERINA Zina Bethune, 13, who'll be Amy in TV's "Little Women," says dancing helps a teen past the awkward age.

By JEANNE D'ARCY

Maybe you don't want to be a great ballerina. Teenager, but that's no reason to think the past deus is not for you!

According to diminutive Zina Bethune, a veteran professional dancer of 13, ballet may be just the thing to get a teen through the awkward age with a graceful jete.

The secret of a ballet dancer's enviable carriage, her poise and beautiful movement, says the young star, is muscle coordination.

"If you can make your body behave the way you want it to — no dangling arms, stooped shoulders or fidgeting feet — you'll develop proper posture and because you'll look poised, you'll feel that way, too," she says.

Zina, who landed one of the most coveted roles in show business—the part of Amy in the October 16th CBS-TV musical version of "Little Women" — has been dancing since she was seven. She advises other would-be ballerinas to postpone lessons until they're 12 so there'll be no danger of leg muscle distortion, which could ruin a promising career.

For those who have modest aspirations — wish only to increase their grace and poise—here are a few exercises that Zina uses to limber up and tone her muscles:

To unclench waist muscles: lie flat on floor, shoulders and waist down tight. Swing one leg over the other to touch floor on opposite side. Reverse.

Next, comes a toughie. It sounds simple, but takes practice to do and is excellent for developing muscle control throughout the entire body:

Start by lying flat on your back, arms and hands loose on the floor beside you and—this is the trick—keeping them loose! Lift one leg by contracting the stomach muscles until the leg is perpendicular to your body, bend the knee as far in as you can, straighten the leg and slowly lower it to the floor. Repeat with other leg, then both legs together.

To help with the gawky, gangling arm problem, stand erect, arms + shoulder height. Swing arms together from left to right as

Teen Can Be Graceful As a Prima Ballerina

BALLERINA Zina Bethune, 13, who'll be Amy in TV's "Little Women," says dancing helps a teen past the awkward age.

By JEANNE D'ARCY

Maybe you don't want to be a great ballerina. Teenager, but that's no reason to think the pas de deux is not for you!

According to diminutive Zina Bethune, a veteran professional dancer of 13, ballet may be just the thing to get a teen through the awkward age with a graceful jeté.

The secret of a ballet dancer's enviable carriage, her poise and beautiful movement, says the young star, is muscle coordination.

"If you can make your body behave the way you want it to — no dangling arms, stooped shoulders or fidgeting feet — you'll develop proper posture and because you'll look poised, you'll feel that way, too," she says.

Zina, who landed one of the most coveted roles in show business—the part of Amy in the October 16th CBS-TV musical version of "Little Women" — has been dancing since she was seven. She advises other would-be ballerinas to postpone lessons until they're 12 so there'll be no danger of leg muscle distortion, which could ruin a promising career.

For those who have modest aspirations — wish only to increase their grace and poise—here are a few exercises that Zina uses to limber up and tone her muscles:

To unclinch waist muscles: lie flat on floor, shoulders and waist down tight. Swing one leg over the other to touch floor on opposite side. Reverse.

Next, comes a toughie. It sounds simple, but takes practice to do and is excellent for developing muscle control throughout the entire body:

Start by lying flat on your back, arms and hands loose on the floor beside you and—this is the trick—keeping them loose! Lift one leg by contracting the stomach muscles until the leg is perpendicular to your body, bend the knee as far in as you can, straighten the leg and slowly lower it to the floor. Repeat with other leg, then both legs together.

To help with the gawky, gangling arm problem, stand erect, arms at shoulder height. Swing arms together from left to right as

To relax when you're nervous for an important date — maybe your first one—Zina suggests this routine:

Bend from the waist and shake hands and arms like a rag doll for a minute or two. Straighten up and walk slowly, kicking each foot leisurely and loosely as you do.

Just 4 feet, 11 inches tall, Zina has quite a career behind her, even though she's very young. She's done juvenile ballet leads at New York's City Center, has appeared in a Broadway show, been featured on many TV shows and is a leading child model.

Still, she's excited about doing "Little Women." She looks the part as described by author Louisa May Alcott: "a regular snow-maiden, with blue eyes and yellow hair curling on her shoulders, pale and slender, always carrying herself like a young lady mindful of her manners."

Jimmy Brown Destined for Many Records

Sensational Browns
Fullback Sets Pace
In Latest Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jimmy Brown is mortal. But not by much.

The sensational Cleveland fullback, threatening to send opposition linemen to their nearest psy-choanalyst, is well on his way to establishing a host of new National Football League offensive records.

Equally proficient at racing outside or banging away inside,
Brown scored four touchdowns
Sunday as the Browns outscored Chicago's Cardinals 38-24. The Browns lead the Eastern division with a 5-0 record.

The 22-year-old former All-America from Syracuse University made distinct headway in these departments:

1. Most yards gained one season — Brown has amassed 815 yards, 180 in 24 tries Sunday. It seems almost certain he will break Steve Van Buren's mark of 1,146 set in 1949 with Philadelphia.
2. Most touchdowns one season
— Brown now has 14, only four shy of Van Buren's 1945 standard.
3. Most points one season — This is furthest from Brown's grasp.
The Cleveland sophomore has 64 points. The record is 138, set by Don Hutson of Green Bay in 1942.
Brown will have to average close to two TDs a game to best Hutson,
the great end who also handled
Green Bay's conversions.

While Brown was making defensive lines cower, Baltimore's Johnny Unitas was doing the same with the secondary. He tossed two touchdown passes as the Colts,
only other undefeated team, remained in front in the Western Conference with a 5-0 mark, whipping Washington 35-10. It was the 20th consecutive game in which Unitas has thrown for a score.

In other games, Chicago's Bears remained in contention in the west with a 4-1 mark, as they defeated
San Francisco 27-14; New York
moved into second place in the east with a 17-4 triumph over Pittsburgh; defending champion Detroit won its first game of the season, 41-24 over Los Angeles, and Green Bay outlasted Philadelphia 38-35.

Brown scored on dashes of 62, 41, 7 and 2 yards. His second and third TDs, coming in the third quarter, enabled Cleveland to overcome a 24-17 Cardinal lead, effected by Lamar McHan's passing and signal-calling. The Browns' only other touchdown was produced by rookie Leroy Bolden, who scampered 102 yards with a kickoff.

Unitas hit Ray Berry with his scoring passes for 17 and 48 yards before a record crowd of 54,403.
Lenny Lyles, the speedy Colt rookie, made his second end zone-to-end zone dash as he lugged a kickoff 101 yards.

The Bears won a rough game
from the 49ers in which Bear Coach George Halas had a punch thrown at him by a fan. Willie Gallimore, the Bears' flashy back, scored twice, first on a 20-yard run and then on a 47-yard pass play.

New York brought its record to 3-2 by recovering three fumbles by Pitt fullback Tom Tracy and converting two into scores. The Giants scored only once on their own initiative and it was the

Tigers Point for Contest With Portsmouth East Here

Circleville High School's gridiron force will play its final home game of the season when Portsmouth
East comes here Friday night.

With Friday's 8-0 loss to Frank-

the Tigers will point to the Portsmouth test in hopes of gaining their fourth decision in seven starts.

Pitt Machine Starts Slow, But Then -

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pitt's football team starts slower than an old jalopy in January and takes about as long to warm up.
Coach Johnny Michelosen feels this was partially responsible for Saturday's 14-14 standoff with Army.

While Army was running up a 14-0 second period lead, Pitt's attack coughed and sputtered.

"We got into a hole at the start,
just as we have in the past few games," said Michelosen grimly.
"This is a disturbing factor because we can't make use of our total offense. Something has to be worked out."

The Panthers machine suddenly began running effectively only minutes before the half ended.
They score a touchdown before intermission and an early second half drive knotted the score.

After that only the grimmest determination of the Cadets preserved No. 1 Army's unbeaten record in five games. Pitt mounted attack after attack, missing on two field goal attempts, one by the narrowest of margins.

Going into the game Army was first in total offense but the statistics came out heavily in Pitt's favor. The Panthers picked a total of 332 yards to only 163 for the Cadets.

At the end it appeared Army was ready to settle for a tie, though Coach Red Blaik later denied it.

clinch. Leading 10-6 in the final quarter, quarterback Don Heinrich led a 70-yard march and scored himself from the one. The Steeler points came on field goals
by Tom Miner.

Detroit's Tobin Rote connected for three scoring passes to lead
the Lions to their first victory.
The defending champs unleashed a sensational 104-yard scoring play, early in the contest that laid the groundwork for the victory.

Gene Gedman took a Ram kickoff
four yards in the end zone, stepped out to the 14 and handed off to Terry Barr who went the remaining distance. The attendance at Los Angeles was 81,703, largest of the day.

Babe Parilli took over the Green Bay quarterbacking from Bart
Starr and pitched touchdown passes of 34, 14, 10 and 25 yards as the Packers also notched their initial victory. Paul Hornung's field goal in the opening period was the margin of victory. Phiadelphia's Norm Van Brocklin passed for three scores, two to Tommy McDonald.

travel to Washington C. H. for the final game of the season with the arch rival Blue Lions. The WCH outfit has recorded an impressive record to date, with several of their wins coming over weaker opponents.

However, the Blue Lions did manage to edge Greenfield Friday night, 14-6, to take over leadership of the South Central Ohio League.

CIRCLEVILLE apparently came out of the Franklin Heights test with only minor bumps and bruises.

Walt Arledge, the Tigers' regular right half, did not see action against FH due to a bad ankle.
Chances are the ace runner will be ready for the Portsmouth encounter.

End Leo Moats also was out Friday night, suffering a shoulder ailment. His role this week remains on the doubtful list.

The Tigers entered the FH game with some changes in the lineup. Former end Jim Woods handled quarterback duties as Tom Greco moved out of the slot to take over the vacated flanker job.

CHS initiated a new spread formation with the ends and two backs split wide. The formation picked up some yardage on the ground and in the air, but not enough to give the locals a scoring thrust.

An encouraging note was that the Tigers completed nine of 18 passes for their best aerial show of the season. Most of the tosses were thrown from the new formation.

Japan All-Stars Win on Errors Over Cardinals

SENDAI, Japan (AP) — The Japan All-Stars parlayed one hit, a wild pitch, two walks and two errors for a four-run seventh inning rally today and downed the touring St. Louis Cardinals 6-3.

It was the first loss for the Redbirds in three games of their 16 game tour of Japan.

Sad Sam Jones, The Cards'
strikeout ace, who relieved starter Ernie Broglio in the seventh,
was charged with the loss.

For the All-Stars, the winning pitcher was strong-armed Kazuhisa (The Rhino) Inao, who recently won four games in leading his Nishitetsu Lions to victory in the Japan World Series.

Inao also entered the game in the seventh after starter Atsushi Aramaki served up a home run ball to Cards' catcher Gene Green which tied the score at 2-2.

HAWKEYES SURPRISE WILDCATS, 26-20 — Iowa halfback Ray Jauch (46) scampering off tackle for three yards in the first period today as Northwestern tackle Gene Gossage (72) and guard Pete Arena (73) close in. The run was part of the Hawkeyes' first touchdown march that gave undefeated Iowa the victory over Northwestern, who until today had been unbeaten and untied for the season. The victory assured the Hawkeyes of the Big Ten's top spot. All-America candidate Randy Duncan fired three passes to propel the Hawkeyes past the surprised Northwestern Wildcats.

Jimmy Brown Destined for Many Records

Sensational Browns
Fullback Sets Pace
In Latest Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jimmy Brown is mortal. But
not by much.

The sensational Cleveland fullback, threatening to send opposing linemen to their nearest psychoanalyst, is well on his way to establishing a host of new National Football League offensive records.

Equally proficient at racing outside or banging away inside, Brown scored four touchdowns Sunday as the Browns outscored Chicago's Cardinals 38-24. The Browns lead the Eastern division with a 5-0 record.

The 22-year-old former All-America from Syracuse University made distinct headway in these departments:

1. Most yards gained one season — Brown has amassed 815 yards, 180 in 24 tries Sunday. It seems almost certain he will break Steve Van Buren's mark of 1,146 set in 1949 with Philadelphia.
2. Most touchdowns one season — Brown now has 14, only four shy of Van Buren's 1945 standard.
3. Most points one season — this is furthest from Brown's grasp. The Cleveland sophomore has 64 points. The record is 138, set by Don Hutson of Green Bay in 1942. Brown will have to average close to two TDs a game to best Hutson, the great end who also handled Green Bay's conversions.

While Brown was making defensive lines cower, Baltimore's Johnny Unitas was doing the same with the secondary. He tossed two touchdowns passes as the Colts, only other undefeated team, remained in front in the Western Conference with a 5-0 mark, whipping Washington 35-10. It was the 20th consecutive game in which Unitas has thrown for a score.

In other games, Chicago's Bears remained in contention in the west with a 4-1 mark, as they defeated San Francisco 27-14. New York moved into second place in the east with a 17-6 triumph over Pittsburgh; defending champion Detroit won its first game of the season, 41-24 over Los Angeles, and Green Bay outlasted Philadelphia 38-35.

Brown scored on dashes of 62, 41, 7 and 2 yards. His second and third TDs, coming in the third quarter, enabled Cleveland to overcome a 24-17 Cardinal lead, effected by Lamar McHan's passing and signal-calling. The Browns' only other touchdown was produced by rookie Leroy Bolden, who scampered 102 yards with a kickoff.

Unitas hit Ray Berry with his scoring passes for 17 and 48 yards before a record crowd of 54,403. Lenny Lyles, the speedy Colt rookie, made his second end zone-to-end zone dash as he lugged a kickoff 101 yards.

The Bears won a rough game from the 49ers in which Bear Coach George Halas had a punch thrown at him by a fan. Willie Gallimore, the Bears' flashy back, scored twice, first on a 20-yard run and then on a 47-yard pass play.

New York brought its record to 3-2 by recovering three fumbles by Pitt fullback Tom Tracy and converting two into scores. The Giants scored only once on their own initiative and it was the

Tigers Point for Contest With Portsmouth East Here

Circleville High School's gridiron force will play its final home game of the season when Portsmouth East comes here Friday night.

With Friday's 8-0 loss to Franklin Heights a thing of the past, the Tigers will point to the Portsmouth test in hopes of gaining their fourth decision in seven starts.

The following Friday the Tigers

Pitt Machine Starts Slow, But Then -

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pitt's football team starts slower than an old jalopy in January and takes about as long to warm up. Coach Johnny Michelosen feels this was partially responsible for Saturday's 14-14 standoff with Army.

While Army was running up a 14-0 second period lead, Pitt's attack coughed and sputtered.

"We got into a hole at the start, just as we have in the past few games," said Michelosen grimly. "This is a disturbing factor because we can't make use of our total offense. Something has to be worked out."

The Panthers machine suddenly began running effectively only minutes before the half ended. They score a touchdown before intermission and an early second half drive knotted the score.

After that only the grimmest determination of the Cadets preserved No. 1 Army's unbeaten record in five games. Pitt mounted attack after attack, missing on two field goal attempts, one by the narrowest of margins.

Going into the game Army was first in total offense but the statistics came out heavily in Pitt's favor. The Panthers picked a total of 332 yards to only 165 for the Cadets.

At the end it appeared Army was ready to settle for a tie, though Coach Red Blaik later denied it.

Clincher. Leading 10-6 in the final quarter, quarterback Don Heinrich led a 70-yard march and scored himself from the one. The Steeler points came on field goals by Tom Miner.

Detroit's Tobin Rote connected for three scoring passes to lead the Lions to their first victory. The defending champs unleashed a sensational 104-yard scoring play early in the contest that laid the groundwork for the victory.

Gene Gedman took a Ram kickoff four yards in the end zone, stepped out to the 14 and handed off to Terry Barr who went the remaining distance. The attendance at Los Angeles was 81,703, largest of the day.

Babe Parilli took over the Green Bay quarterbacking from Bart Starr and pitched touchdown passes of 34, 14, 10 and 25 yards as the Packers also notched their initial victory.

Paul Hornung's field goal in the opening period was the margin of victory. Philadelphia's Norm Van Brocklin passed for three scores, two to Tommy McDonald.

travel to Washington C. H. for the final game of the season with the arch rival Blue Lions. The WCH outfit has recorded an impressive record to date, with several of their wins coming over weaker opponents.

However, the Blue Lions did manage to edge Greenfield Friday night, 14-6, to take over leadership of the South Central Ohio League.

CIRCLEVILLE apparently came out of the Franklin Heights test with only minor bumps and bruises.

Walt Arledge, the Tigers' regular right half, did not see action against FH due to a bad ankle. Chances are the ace runner will be ready for the Portsmouth encounter.

End Leo Mosts also was out Friday night, suffering a shoulder ailment. His role this week remains on the doubtful list.

The Tigers entered the FH game with some changes in the lineup. Former end Jim Woods handled quarterback duties as Tom Grenko moved out of the slot to take over the vacated flanker job.

CHS initiated a new spread formation with the ends and two backs split wide. The formation picked up some yardage on the ground and in the air, but not enough to give the locals a scoring thrust.

An encouraging note was that the Tigers completed nine of 18 passes for their best aerial show of the season. Most of the tosses were thrown from the new formation.

Japan All-Stars Win on Errors Over Cardinals

SENDAI, Japan (AP) — The Japan All-Stars parlayed one hit, a wild pitch, two walks and two errors for a four-run seventh inning rally today and downed the touring St. Louis Cardinals 6-3. It was the first loss for the Redbirds in three games of their 16 game tour of Japan.

Sad Sam Jones, The Cards' strikeout ace, who relieved starter Ernie Broglio in the seventh, was charged with the loss.

For the All-Stars, the winning pitcher was strong-armed Kazuhisa (The Rhino) Inao, who recently won four games in leading his Nishitetsu Lions to victory in the Japan World Series.

Inao also entered the game in the seventh after starter Atsushi Aramaki served up a home run ball to Cards' catcher Gene Green which tied the score at 2-2.

HAWKEYES SURPRISE WILDCATS, 26-20 — Iowa halfback Ray Jauch (46) scampering off tackle for three yards in the first period today as Northwestern tackle Gene Gossage (72) and guard Pete Arena (73) close in. The run was part of the Hawkeye's first touchdown march that gave undefeated Iowa the victory over Northwestern, who until today had been unbeaten and untied for the season. The victory assured the Hawkeyes of the Big Ten's top spot. All-America candidate Randy Duncan fired three passes to propel the Hawkeyes past the surprised Northwestern Wildcats.

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The old chestnut about players tripping over the yard-line stripes was never truer than in Saturday night's Louisiana State-Florida game.

Iowa Eyes Roadblocks Ahead On Way to Big Ten Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Iowa's mighty Hawkeyes are heading for the Big Ten title and a possible Rose Bowl bid but must overcome some traditional rivals to achieve their goal.

The Hawkeyes remained the only undefeated, untied team in Big Ten play following their narrow 26-20 victory over upstart Northwestern Saturday. Ohio State, the defending champion, settled for a 7-7 tie with Wisconsin.

Iowa now must wade through Michigan, Minnesota and Ohio State in concluding its Big Ten program. The Michigan and Minnesota games are on the road but the all-important Ohio State game is in Iowa City where the Hawkeyes seldom lose.

Still very much in the race are Ohio State, Northwestern, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Purdue. Ohio State dropped to second place in the conference since a tie counts one-half game won, one-half game lost. Illinois moved into a third place tie with Northwestern on the strength of its 16-0 triumph over Michigan State.

Purdue vanquished Notre Dame 29-22; Michigan edged Minnesota 29-19; and Indiana turned in a 12-7 non-conference victory over Miami of Ohio.

With the Big Ten hitting the halfway mark, Iowa is on top with a 3-0 record. Ohio State is 2-0-1, followed by Northwestern 2-1, Illinois 2-1, Purdue 1-1, Wisconsin 1-1-1, Michigan 1-1-1, Michigan State 0-2-1, Indiana 0-2 and Minnesota 0-3. Only Michigan State, Indiana and Minnesota can be counted out of the race.

A full schedule is on tap this week with Illinois at Purdue, Minnesota at Indiana, Iowa at Michigan, Wisconsin at Michigan State and Ohio State at Northwestern.

Coach Ara Parseghian's Wildcats failed to win a game last year, but bowled over four foes this season before succumbing 26-20 Saturday to Iowa's Big Ten leaders.

Parseghian followed Ohio State chief Woody Hayes as head coach at Miami University, each stepping to the Big Ten from the Oxford school.

The famed Buckeye offense had its troubles against Wisconsin, getting a score on only one of its nine tries with the ball. Except for the 66-yard 20-play scoring drive—helped by a holding penalty to within the one-foot line—Ohio failed to dent Badger territory in its last seven possessions.

Over the same stretch the Wisconsin was banging at Ohio's door, only to miss a field goal attempt, lose the ball on an end zone interception and surrender it again on a fumble on Ohio's 12.

Ohio was penalized only five yards and Wisconsin 10 in the entire game. Ohio's infraction was a delay of game, while Wisconsin's backfield was in motion once in addition to the holding call.

Coach Milt Bruhn of Wisconsin questioned the latter, and also objected that Hayes congratulated the official who called it before heading across field for the post-game handshake with the badger mentor.

3,000 Ohioans Plan Talks on Education

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An estimated 3,000 Ohio citizens will gather here next Tuesday for the State House Conference on Education.

Ray W. Kimmey, Dayton, chairman of the all day conference, reported that more than 2,500 delegates have registered.

The delegates represent about 500 local school districts "town meetings" held during September and October. More than 50,000 people took part in the local meetings.

"This will be the largest meeting of lay citizens ever held in Ohio to discuss the problems of our public schools," Kimmey, a Dayton industrialist, said. "We are thrilled at this show of interest in education by the people of Ohio."

Most of the conference, in Veterans Memorial Auditorium, will be devoted to discussions of state level problems in teaching personnel, district organization, the school program and finance.

Gov. C. William O'Neill will deliver the keynote address at 10 a.m. And at the opening session, delegates will hear reports on summarized findings and recommendations of local meetings.

Evashevski Jittery about Michigan Tilt

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Coach Forest Evashevski of Iowa's Big Ten title-tracking Hawkeyes makes a private football homecoming Saturday that gives him the jitters.

The old Wolverine grid rat takes his conference-leading club, seeking a fourth consecutive league victory, to Michigan against whom he has never directed a Hawkeye triumph in five encounters.

Evashevski, despite Iowa's 26-20 decision Saturday which snapped a four-game Northwestern winning streak, is uneasy about facing the Wolverines whom Northwestern plastered 55-24 a week earlier.

Evvy today related this exchange which sums up his feeling about revisiting his old Ann Arbor, Mich., stamping grounds:

"You know, I had occasion to talk to Bennie Oosterbaan (Michigan's coach) after his clobbering by Northwestern. Bennie thought he beat me to the punch by saying 'Keep your chin up, Evvy.'"

"But I said, 'Bennie, you old so-and-so, you don't get any sympathy from me until we get this game between you and me out of the way.'"

Michigan last Saturday repulsed Minnesota 20-19, and Evashevski isn't forgetting that Northwestern had to rally at game's end for a 7-3 nudging of the Gophers.

With due respect to Ohio State, whom Iowa faces here in a conference finale Nov. 15, Evashevski said the Big Ten championship can be decided in Iowa's next two meetings with Michigan and Minnesota.

"You can toss out Iowa records when we play Michigan and Minnesota always lays for us as a matter of neighborhood pride," said Evashevski.

O'Neill Lashes Hoffa's Gibe At Governor

CLEVELAND (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill, campaigning for re-election, has jumped on a remark made by Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa that if Ohio labor unions are corrupt it is the governor's fault.

Hoffa, in Cleveland Saturday night to attend a dinner honoring a Bakery Drivers Union official, made the comment in reply to a newsmen's question.

In a five-minute television speech here Sunday night, O'Neill struck back. He said Hoffa is the first of "many corrupt labor bosses" who will come to Ohio to attempt to defeat the proposed amendment to regulate union-employer contracts.

O'Neill asserted that Hoffa said, "The Teamsters Union is spending $300,000 in states where the right-to-work (proposal) is up for a vote to defeat it."

The Republican governor told his TV audience:

"He (Hoffa) was in Ohio because he was afraid... that the right-to-work law would put into the hands of the working man a strong weapon against corruption."

"Why did he attack me? Because I have led the right for this amendment. He knows that as long as I occupy the governor's chair, neither Jimmy Hoffa nor other corrupt bosses will be able to get a foothold to dominate the working people."

Lakers, Nicks Take Leads in Pro Cage Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It has been a long, hard summer for fans of the Minneapolis Lakers and the New York Knicks-erbockers. But today they could point with pride at the division standings of the National Basketball Assn.

The Lakers, who finished in the Western Division cellar last season, were leading the league today. And the Knicks, last-place occupants in the Eastern Division in 1957-58, also led their section.

The Lakers trimmed the Detroit Pistons 108-100 Sunday afternoon in a nationally televised game. They have won two of their three starts, bowing to the Cincinnati Royals 110-84 Saturday night.

The Knicks won their second straight overtime game, topping the Philadelphia Warriors 100-94 last night. New York opened its season Saturday with a 127-125 overtime squeaker over the Boston Celtics, the defending Eastern Division champions.

In other Saturday night action, Philadelphia edged the Syracuse Nationals 110-109 and Detroit posted a 117-112 victory over the St. Louis Hawks, defending NBA titlists.

Veteran Vern Mikkelsen, in his 10th season with Minneapolis, clicked for 11 points opening quarter and finished with 22, high for the Lakers against Detroit.

However, George Yardley of the Pistons, NBA scoring leader last season, found the range for 36 points.

Willie Naulls paced the Knicks with 30 points. Paul Arizin was high for Philadelphia with 27.

Bobby Dodd, outspoken coach of Georgia Tech, says coaches like Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma and Ralph Jordan of Auburn knew what the alumni were doing to get their teams in trouble with the NCAA.

He also says the coaches of institutions that have been placed on probation should be ineligible for any and all honors.

He declares that the Football Coaches Assn. is failing to do a good job of cleaning up the profession because its ethics committee "can't or won't publicly spank its members who have been caught breaking the rules."

MacKay Joins Airmen, But Tennis Due First

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Barry MacKay, a top tennis amateur from Dayton, is slated for Air Force duty but he'll get in some important playing first.

He enlisted at Clinton County Air Force Base for six months last Saturday. But he said that before he reports for duty, he will travel to Australia for competition with the U. S. Davis Cup team next month.

Richie Ashburn of the Phillies, 1958 National League batting champion, has led the league three times in most hits. He made 215 during 1958 and batted .350.

Iowa Eyes Roadblocks Ahead On Way to Big Ten Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Iowa's mighty Hawkeyes are heading for the Big Ten title and a possible Rose Bowl bid but must overcome some traditional rivals to achieve their goal.

The Hawkeyes remained the only undefeated, untied team in Big Ten play following their narrow 26-20 victory over upstart Northwestern Saturday. Ohio State, the defending champion, settled for a 7-7 tie with Wisconsin.

Iowa now must wade through Michigan, Minnesota and Ohio State in concluding its Big Ten program. The Michigan and Minnesota games are on the road but the all-important Ohio State game is in Iowa City where the Hawkeyes seldom lose.

Still very much in the race are Ohio State, Northwestern, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan and Purdue. Ohio State dropped to second place in the conference since a tie counts one-half game won, one-half game lost. Illinois moved into a third place tie with Northwestern on the strength of its 16-0 triumph over Michigan State.

Purdue vanquished Notre Dame 29-22; Michigan edged Minnesota 29-19; and Indiana turned in a 12-7 non-conference victory over Miami of Ohio.

With the Big Ten hitting the half-way mark, Iowa is on top with a 3-0 record. Ohio State is 2-0-1, followed by Northwestern 2-1, Illinois 2-1, Purdue 1-1, Wisconsin 1-1-1, Michigan 1-1-1, Michigan State 0-2-1, Indiana 0-2 and Minnesota 0-3. Only Michigan State, Indiana and Minnesota can be counted out of the race.

A full schedule is on tap this week with Illinois at Purdue, Minnesota at Indiana, Iowa at Michigan, Wisconsin at Michigan State and Ohio State at Northwestern. Coach Ara Parseghian's Wildcats failed to win a game last year, but bowled over four foes this season before succumbing 26-20 Saturday to Iowa's Big Ten leaders.

Parseghian followed Ohio State chief Woody Hayes as head coach at Miami University, each stepping to the Big Ten from the Oxford school.

The famed Buckeye offense had its troubles against Wisconsin, getting a score on only one of its nine tries with the ball. Except for the 66-yard 20-play scoring drive—helped by a holding penalty to within the one-foot line—Ohio failed to dent Badger territory in its last seven possessions.

Over the same stretch the Wisconsin cons were banging at Ohio's door, only to miss a field goal attempt, lose the ball on an end zone interception and surrender it again on a fumble on Ohio's 12.

Ohio was penalized only five yards and Wisconsin 10 in the entire game. Ohio's infraction was a delay of game, while Wisconsin's backfield was in motion once in addition to the holding call.

Coach Milt Bruhn of Wisconsin questioned the latter, and also objected that Hayes congratulated the official who called it before heading across field for the post-game handshake with the badger mentor.

Evashevski Jittery about Michigan Tilt

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Coach Forest Evashevski of Iowa's Big Ten tilt—tracking Hawkeyes makes a private football homecoming Saturday that gives him the jitters.

The old Wolverine grid star takes his conference—leading club, seeking a fourth consecutive league victory, to Michigan against whom he has never directed a Hawkeye triumph in five encounters.

Evashevski, despite Iowa's 26-20 decision Saturday which snapped a four-game Northwestern winning streak, is uneasy about facing the Wolverines whom Northwestern plattered 55-24 a week earlier.

Evvy today related this exchange which sums up his feeling about revisiting his old Ann Arbor, Mich., stamping grounds: "You know, I had occasion to talk to Bennie Oosterbaan (Michigan's coach) after his clobbering by Northwestern. Bennie thought he beat me to the punch by saying 'Keep your chin up, Evvy.'"

"But I said, 'Bennie, you old so-and-so, you don't get any sympathy from me until we get this game between you and me out of the way.'"

Rainfall averaging one-tenth to two tenths of an inch in the north and central and about one-third of an inch in the south.

Are Not Involved

Questions of interest to ex-servicemen should be given to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer Jim Shea. His offices are in the basement of the Court House in Circleville.

Q—I understand the burial allowance for a war veteran is now $250. If I wanted to, could I add more to that and have a nicer burial? In other words, could anyone go ahead and pay funeral expenses and then collect the burial award to help pay for the funeral expenses?

A—Yes. The burial award is mainly intended to ensure a decent burial for all war veterans. The actual cost of burial has no bearing on the payment of this allowance.

Q—I have been told that in the event a veteran dies of a service connected disability, his widow would receive a pension for the rest of her life, even if she remarries. Is that true?

A—That is not true. If the widow should remarry, she would automatically be dropped from the pension rolls and, under existing law, no remarried widow may be restored to the pension rolls upon the dissolution of a second marriage.

Q—I AM A SPANISH War widow and my husband died in 1918. I did not collect the burial allowance as I did not know about it. Can I collect it now?

A—I am sorry, but this cannot be done. In 1918 the burial allowance did not exist, and explains why you did not know about it. However, you could not receive the allowance now, because the law states that application for the allowance must be made within two years of the date of death of a war veteran.

Q—I am a Korean War veteran still on active military duty. If I should become disabled for reasons due to military service, and later die of this disability, would my children be eligible for benefits under the War Orphans Education Act?

A—No they would not. Your service connected disability must have been incurred during the Korean Conflict period—June 27, 1950 to Jan. 31, 1955. A fatal disability incurred after that period would not qualify your children for benefits under the War Orphans Act.

Q—In making application for a Certificate of Eligibility for a loan, must the Original Discharge, or Report of Separation be attached to the application?

A—The Original Discharge, or Report of Separation MUST be attached to the application for a Certificate of Eligibility for a Loan, unless the Original has been lost. In case it was lost the V.A. will accept a Certificate in Lieu of Lost or Destroyed Discharge, which must be certified by the Adjutant General's Department. Under no circumstance will a certified or photostatic copy of the Discharge or Report of Separation be accepted.

Only 5 GM Plants Still Strike-Bound

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors today counted only five plants with local disputes with the United Auto Workers Union still unsettled.

Moving near full-speed operation for the first time since the UAW walked out in a company-wide strike Oct. 2, GM announced seven agreements Sunday.

The new settlements were at: Fisher Body at Mansfield, Ohio; Central Foundry at Defiance, Ohio; Chevrolet at Bloomfield, N. J.; Euclid Division at Tonawanda, N. Y.; Euclid Division at Cleveland; and two Fisher Body plants at Detroit.

The new agreements brought to 260,300 the number of UAW employees ready for work at 119 GM plants. At full operation, GM has about 275,000 UAW employees at 124 plants.

Although the company-wide strike lasted only 12 hours, the UAW gave its blessing to locals that wanted to continue on strike until local grievances were settled.

The local strikes completely shut down GM's vast auto-making empire for several days and it got back into gear for production of 1959 model cars only last Monday.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: What could possibly be wrong with an otherwise intelligent and attractive 50-year-old wife, married 22 years, who insists upon making love to husband in public, and in front of friends?

Regardless of whether she is hostess or guest, she will interrupt casual or serious conversation to cross the room, sit on her husband's lap, kiss and fondle him, and tell him and everyone in the room how much she loves him; and what a wonderful lover he has always been.

The husband, who holds a respected executive position, shows no enthusiasm for these actions: yet he makes no protest either.

We, their close friends, feel actually embarrassed, having to witness this behavior; but due to friendship and business connections we hesitate to say so. We also flinch when the husband is made a subject of quite ribald jokes amongst some of "the boys" who aren't his close friends.

Are we narrow-minded, or just not hep—in considering these public displays of intimacy unacceptable in well-bred company?

DEAR C.R.: Since almost nothing could be more embarrassing to adults of normal sensibilities than to intrude upon the privacy of a married pair at their intimate love-play, this wife's behavior at parties is pretty disgusting, to say the least. I think any jury of civilized minds would agree on that.

As for the meaning of her aggression, it is in part a case of "the lady doth protest too much" about her love-life, I think. Evidently she is bothered by a sense of psychological distance from her husband, when they are in company of other people. In a quite vulgar insensitive way, and childishly, she tries to close this distance by getting into his lap, etc.

You say the husband shows no enthusiasm for this kind of thing; yet makes no protest either. Perhaps he senses what the audience hasn't surmised: namely, that his wife is a little bit "off." That her obnoxious and cloying public assertion of true love between them is her peculiar way of trying to cope with paranoid distrust of his lovely loyalty.

It is regrettable that this man is made to look like a fool in company, and mocked behind his back due to his wife's very inappropriate way of trying to ease her insecurity tensions. But if he hasn't the wisdom, diplomacy and strength of character to correct her mistake in this respect, I suggest his friends will just have to bear it too—or drop them both.

DiSalle Urges New Planning For Economy

CLEVELAND (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle, Democratic candidate for governor, has proposed creation of a planning unit at the cabinet level to keep a watch on Ohio's economy and industrial development.

The former Toledo mayor spoke at a young people's congregation in Fairmont Temple in suburban Beachwood Sunday night.

Pointing out that Ohio is one of the few states with no such centralized agency, DiSalle said the economic planning unit was vital to the state's growing work force.

DiSalle also complained there was an alarming lack of knowledge about both issues and candidates in this election.

"But it is not as individuals that the candidates are important," he said. "Rather, it is their part in the system of government."

"There is no Republican or Democratic way to do this job," the former federal price administrator said. He explained that after the election the man, Democrat or Republican, who sits in the governor's chair must be free to administer solutions to problems of highways, mental health and other issues affecting all Ohioans, regardless of political beliefs.

The first job, DiSalle said, is an analysis of state needs, then an inventory of available resources, and then decisions on how best to meet and anticipate these needs.

Chinese Leave North Korea, but Yanks Stay Put

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—Communist North Korea informed the Military Armistice Commission today the last of Red China's troops have gone home and demanded again that American troops likewise quit South Korea. "Your demand is rejected," U.S. Air Force Maj. Gen. Albert T. Wilson Jr., representative of the U.N. Command on the commission, told North Korean Maj. Gen. Kang Sang Ho.

A Chinese communique Sunday said the third and last stage of withdrawal of Red Chinese "volunteers" from Korea had been completed. This stage was said to have included 70,000 men.

Red China's forces in North Korea were estimated at 250,000 or more men at one time.
